Philosophy/Belief

Teaching is my vocation. I love what I do. Teaching at a Catholic school allows me to grow in my faith with my students. My favorite part of teaching is that it is never “boring.” Every year, my students become my “favorite class” because each class has so many different and interesting ways that they interact with each other and in the classroom. My students’ energy motivates me to try something new every day.

Passions/Interests

To know me is to know my family: My husband Julian and I have been married 24 years. Julian is an introvert and I am an extrovert and together we balance and challenge each other just right. We have three daughters who keep us very busy. I love watching my children pursue their varied interests. My family also extends to the Holy Spirit Catholic Music Ministry. Music ministry is an integral part of my life as a Christian striving to be closer to Christ.
